

Parents and Caregivers Guide to Choosing the Right Child Safety Seat

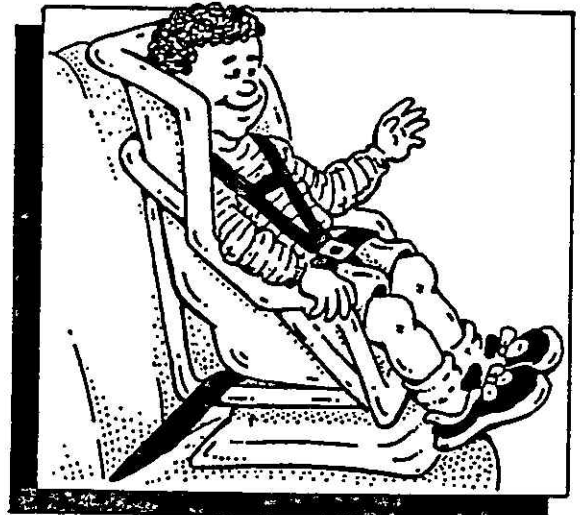

Rear-Facing Infant or Convertible Seats

- rear-facing position from birth until 12 months and 20 pounds.

Convertible Seat

- forward-facing position from 12 months or 20 pounds to four years or 40 pounds.

Booster Seat

- as a transition to safety belts for older children who have outgrown convertible seats—ideally those children who weigh more than 40 pounds and are four years of age to eight years or 70 pounds.

Lap/Shoulder Belt

- use belt alone if fits across the child's hips and does not cross the child's face or neck or ride up across the stomach.
- age eight and older or 70 pounds or more.
